"EVERYTHING'S UP TODATE" IN FLIERS' TOWN AT CENTRALIA, ONT.

—Central Press Canadian

One mayor in Canada who never worries about taxation, traffic, debentures or mill rate, is Warrant Officer Tom Gates, seen above with his family, the major domo of a model RCAF housing community at Centralia, Ont., known as Huron Park. Twice a month Mayor Gates, the duly elected representative of 360 air force families, summons his deputy mayor and six councillors (four of whom hold higher rank than himself) to discuss minor issues affecting an almost perfect community, built at a cost of $4,000,000. Residents of Huron Park don't fret about fire or police protection, sewerage, snow removal or hospital facilities. These are supplied by the RCAF. Houses include heat, light and water for a flat rent. Their only worries are (1) too many stray dogs, (2) not enough lawnmowers, (3) no hockey for kids, (4) formation of a bowling league. "I've been in the air force 15 years," said the mayor, formerly from McGreggor, Man., "and this is the best station yet."

Elaine Salmon and Urzula Stewart of Coutts were recent visitors at the Scott Salmon home.

Mrs. Zelma Innes entertained her Bee Hive Class on Wednesday evening when they met at her home to make Xmas gifts.

A number of friends came to help Alice Powelson on a quilt on Monday. After it was completed the hostess served a very nice lunch.

Joan Jessop who is in nurses training in Lethbride was home with her mother Mrs. Margaret Jessop over the week-end.

Mrs. Phillys Kendt underwent a major operation in the local hospital on Thursday.

What could have been a serious fire was quickly checked by our effecient firemen on Monday when the floor under the furnace in the Broadway Store caught fire.

The Fourth Ward retiring MIA executive Vi Meeks, Velva Cooper, Afton Christensen, and Bryant Jensen were honored at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Galbraith on Tuesday evening. Several tables of Rook was enjoyed with top honors going to Lillian DeMeester, and Barker Selman and consolation to Jim Bridge and Kay Keeler, Ken Stone won the travelling prize.

The honored guests received a gift of appreciation the ladies receiving five year service pins and Bryant a book. The Bishopric were special guests.

Six members from here attended the Catholic Youth Congress in Calgary recently, they were; Irene Horvath, Elizabeth Orban, Bernice Pava'ka Betty Rubinack, and Malcolm Flexhaug. John Linitski of Wretham took these young people to Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Neilson were Sunday visitors in Diamond City.

A farwell Tea for Mrs. C. Winters who is moving to Lethbridge was held at the home of Mrs. Joe Flexhaug on Monday. A lovely gift was given the honored guest from the friends and neighbors present.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wannop of Nanton were Raymond visitors on Thursday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira McBride.

Mr. Sherwin Nalder of Great Falls, was a guest at the Elmo Christensen home for a couple of days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Nelson, of Taber were Sunday guests of his mother's, Mrs. Clara Nelson.

Mrs. F. M. Palmer entertained the Busy Bee Club recently when they helped her complete a quilt, after which she served a lovely lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Lem Adams were in Coaldale on Wednesday where they attended the wedding of Lem's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor were hosts to about thirty-two people when they gathered to celebrate their 29th annual U.S. Thanksgiving. Those present for the occasion were; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Asplund, of Lethbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brandley, Mr. and Mrs. Orvin Hicken, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Brewerton, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Allen, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. King, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Snow, Dr. and Mrs. Harlan Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wing, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Grant, Mr. and Mrs. T. Geo. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Wood, John Allen, Mrs. Laverne Anderson, and Mr and Mrs. Frank Newman of Salt Lake City, Utah.

After a sumptious dinner Rook was enjoyed with high score prize being won by Mrs. Frank Ball and Lincoln Wood, and travelling prize won by Inez Hicken and Frank Newman.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Peterson of Welling entertained on Saturday evening in honor of her father, Mr. Ellis Heninger, who celebrated his birthday A turkey supper was enjoyed by members of his family including his sister, Miss Pearl Heninger of Magrath.

Jacks Trim Hillspring 65-47

About 200 basketball fans turned out to see the game on Wednesday night between the Hillspring M Men and the Raymond Union Jacks.

Don Steed and Norman Henderson were referees calling 18 fouls on the Jacks and 17 on the Hillspring boys.

Son's Letter Persuades Dutch Family to Settle in Canada

—SNS Photo

Eighteen months ago, Fred Stapper came from Bode Graven, Holland to Canada to forge an new life for himself. Settling in Brockville, Ont., he found that Canada was a land of opportunity and wrote his father telling him so and asking him to come to his newly adopted country. The Stapper family took Fred's advice and are seen above following their arrival in Brockville. Third from right is Fred, who had saved up enough money to rent, and furnish a farmhouse close to the city, for his family, and to bring over his fiancee, whom he married three months ago.

STAINS:

Stains, it seems, will get on table linens in spite of every precaution. However, most of them can be readily removed if handled properly and promptly, with the emphasis on "promptly"

Fruit stains, for instances, will weaken the fabric if not removed at once—before laundering. The following suggestions apply to white fabrics only.

Mustard, we find, is one of the most stubborn stains to remove, because it contains tumeric. The most successful treatment yet found is to sponge the spot with denatured alcohol then rinse at once with cold water.

Stains left by soft drinks and other beverages are scarcely noticeable when fresh. If sponged immediately with cold water or washed in the usual way, they will come out readily. But if the stain has been allowed to set and a brown spot appears, wet with cold water, cover with glycerine and let stand for two or three hours. Repeat if the stain persists. This is usually if not always effertive

A young matron stalled her car at traffic light one day. She stamped on the starter, tried again, and choked her engine. Behind her an impatient motorist honked his horn steadily. Finally she got out and walked back to his car.

"I'm awfully sorry, but I don't seem to be able to start my car," she told the driver pleasantly. "If you'll go up there and start it for me I'll stay here and lean on the horn."

TWO SILVER DOLLARS

By F. L. Rowley

"MA, there's a fat lady on the porch!"

This startling information first uttered in a shrill voice by my brother Benjamin was relayed by my sister Kate, my brother Peter and myself. Being anchor man I sustained a hefty clout on the side of the head.

The fat lady turned out to be Mrs. Fulcrum, wife of the mayor.

"Well, how nice," said my mother when she saw who it was at the door. "Just a minute Mrs. Fulcrum and I'll chase the dog upstairs."

Benjamin looked at me, I looked at Kate, Kate grasped Peter by the hand and we all scurried from the parlor barking like dogs. We'd heard that whopper before.

My sister and two brothers seemed entirely unconcerned in the face of this cruel banishment. But it hurt me. I was ten years old at the time and obsessed with the notion that my mission in life was to make things interesting for other people.

King of all the amazing creatures that had taken up temporary abode in rows of jars and boxes was my alligator. This was not in truth a genuine alligator but a lethargic snub-tailed chameleon.

Now for some reason known only to small minds, I assumed that Mrs. Fulcrum would be speechless with glee at the sight of my alligator. I decided to dispense with the penny handling fee usually exacted from my 'sub-teen' peers.

When my mother spied me bearing down on the parlor with a half dozen minature animal cages under each arm she let out a scream that caused Mrs. Fulcrum to drop her pince-nez.

"Get out of here, you idiot!" my mother shrieked.

For a moment I stood in the doorway, pouting. Mrs. Fulcrum had replaced her glasses and was giving me the 'once over'. Apparently she found nothing obnoxious in my appearance.

"Oh let the dear boy stay, Patience," said Mrs. Fulcrum.

The 'dear boy' stayed. My mother moved to a position near the door. Mrs. Fulcrum bent forward o get a good look at my "toys". My first offering was an idolent old toad. This evoked no comment. I believe she thought it was a ceramic paperweight.

I had better luck with some of the other specimens. These elicited an occasional "Ugh!" or "Oh my!" from Mrs. Fulcrum. Funny thing but this was the first time I had noticed what big eyes she had; and her face was all white, as if she had used too much powder.

"Now I'll go get my alligator," I said proudly, "And I'll let you hold him!"

"Al - al - alligator?" whispered Mrs. Fulcrum hoarsely. "Oh my goodness! Patience dear, I don't feel at all well. I must be going."

And with that she made a beeline for the door.

My mother began to cry. She didn't mind my frightening Mrs. Fulcrum off, but it seemed my father was about to sign a contract with Mayor Fulcrum.

Supper that night was a solemn affair.

Suddenly a loud knock on the front door brought me back to reality. Father went to answer the door.

"It's Mayor Fulcrum!" said my sister Kate.

"Mayor Fulcrum would like to speak to you in the parlor," he said looking straight at me.

Mayor Fulcrum was a short rotound gentleman.

"My boy," he said in a loud voice. "I have come here this evening to make a deal with you. You have in your possession a talisman —a charm of which I am sorely in need. It protects its owner against prattling tongues. I would like to buy your alligator."

That's how it was. My father got his contract; Mayor Fulcrum got his alligator; I got two silver dollars—and my mother, well, she didn't get anything, but I noticed that she laughed a lot more after that — especially when she dusted the piano.

QUICK CANADIAN QUIZ

WHEN you're baking, remember these tips and you'll get better results by putting this information to actual use.

Generally speaking, if you're supposed to bake a product for 30 minutes or less, it's best to preheat the oven. Roasts, oven meals, etc. which take longer to cook can be placed in a cold oven.

Leave at least an inch of space between pans and the inside wall of the oven as well as an inch in between pans themselves. This allows for even heat distribution and gives uniform browning.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Pineapple Punch
(Serves 25)

3 tablespoons green tea
2 cups orange juice
3 cups lemon juice
1 quart pineapple juice
4 cups sugar
3 cups water
1 quart pale dry ginger ale
1 quart lime ice

Pour 3 cups freshly boiled water over tea. Brew 3 minutes. Strain and cool. Blend together juices and tea infusion. Boil together sugar and water for 10 minutes to make a thin syrup. Chill and add to fruit juices and tea. Add enough ice and water to make 2 gallons. Add ginger ale just before serving with a tablespoon of the lime ice to top each serving.

Discard warped and discolored pans unless you want uneven browning results in your baking.

Cookies and biscuits rise higher and bake more evenly if you bake them on cookie sheets without any sides, than in pans with high sides.

Pans with warped or dented sides will heat more slowly than those with perfectly level bottoms and sides.

Scorched food which has stuck to the inside of the oven can be loosened by simple means. Dampen a cloth with ammonia and place in the oven after it has been turned off, but is still warm, for a few hours.

The greatest grace of a gift is that it anticipates and admits no return.

The story of showbusiness, from days over fifty years ago to the present, and covering wacky days of Mississippi showboats, vaudeville, The Jazz Age, burlesque and the name dance bands, is told in the CBC series "Mr. Showbusiness" on Trans-Canada network every week. The programs are based on the personal experiences of that fabulous showman, Jack Arthur who does the narration. With him is Howard Cable and his orchestra, and a host of top singers and actors. Arthur now produces the Canadian National exhibition's extravagant grandstand show each year, attended by over 20,000 persons at each performance; a terrific task which serves as a fitting climax to a great man's long career. Here he talks to dancer Janet Macrae, on CNE set.

Striking confirmation of the rapid pace of Canada's extraordinary development is found in the Bank of Montreal's annual report to its shareholders and its two million customers. The 136th annual financial statement of the country's senior chartered bank showed all-time peaks in the most important departments, with total resources running to a record figure of $2,364,000,000.

A most notable indication of the nature and pace of business activity during the past year is provided by the fact that the B of M's total loans have increased by $145,582,000 and stand at the impressive total of $857,762,561.

These loans are made "to Canadians of every calling — farmers, miners, fishermen, oil men, lumbermen, ranchers — to industrial and business enterprises and to provincial government according to the report just issued by the local B of M manager James Grant

His report underlines the fact that the extent of the bank's participation in financing the business and personal needs of its customers is made possible by the record amount of funds which B of M depositors have placed with its branches from coast to coast. Increased over the year by $79 million, the bank's total deposits run to $2,226,960,000 — the highest figure in the bank's long history. Well over half this money is made up of the savings of private citizens in all walks of life.

STRONG POSITION MAINTAINED

Notwithstanding the greatly increased amount of money which the B of M is lending to its customers, the traditionally strong liquid position of the institution has been maintained, with quickly available resources at $1,513,000,000 equal to 66.75 per cent of all its liabilities to the public. Of these "quick assets' the most important in size are the bank's holdings of government bonds and other investments amounting in all to nearly a billion dollars.

Earnings and taxes both showed increase for the bank's year which closed on October 31. After allowing for a tax-bill of $6,650,000 — up from $5,918,000 in 1952 — the B of M reported earnings from the operation of its 600 branches of $7,042,676. Of this amount $5,040,000 is being paid to shareholders. This represents a return of 5.21 per cent on their investment, compared with 5.01 per cent last year. The bank's rest account was further strengthened and now stands at $60 million.

One day an old umbrella mender brought his skeleton frames and tinkering tools into the alley of my office. As he sat on a box in the sun, mending the broken and torn umbrella I noticed that he seemed to take unusual pains, testing the cloth, carefully measuring, and strongly sewing the covers.

"You seem extra careful," I remarked. "Yes," he said, working without looking up; "I try to do good work."

"Your customers would not know the difference until you were gone," I persisted.

"No, I suppose not."

"Do you expect to come back?"

"No."

"Then why are you so particu'ar?"

"So that it will be easier for the fellow—the next one who comes along' he answered simply.

YOU TELL ON YOURSELF

You tell on yourself by the friends you seek,
By the very manner in which you speak;
By the way you use your leisure time,
By the way you spend each dollar and dime.
You tell what you are by the things you wear,
By what sort of things about which you care;
By the kind of things that make you laugh,
By the records you play on your phonograph.
You tell what you are by the way you walk,
By the things of which you like to talk
By the manner in which you take defeat,
And especially by the way you eat,
By the books you read from the well-filled shelf,
In thousands of ways you tell on yourself.
So there really isn't a bit of sense
In keeping up a false pretense.

Women's Travel Authority

The glove compartment of your car is like a woman's purse It usually needs to be cleaned out. Now is a vood time to remove those bottles sunburn lotion that you used this summer and get ready for winter. Here's what your glove compartment should contain for cold-weather driving:

1. Bottle of hand lotion for chapped hands.

2. Pair of wool-lined leather driving gloves which can be used by the whole family and a pair of outside gloves for brushing off snow, putting on chains etc.

3. Plastic ice scraper and a small shaker, filled with salt, to loosen ice on the windshield. (Cover the top of the shaker with tape to prevent salt leaking).

4. Sun glasses for driving in snow.

5. Small flashlight and whisk broom; ear muffs, pocket size of tissue and provincial and regional maps.

Don't let your glove compartment become a "catch all". Only put in the things you really need.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE to CUSTOMERS of the B of M

This is the way I see it...

This past year saw Canada take another big stride forward. The rapid development of our natural resources and the continuing high level of business activity in 1953 are bringing benefits to Canadians everywhere.

Without adequate financial resources such progress would be impossible. That's why it is my pleasure to report to you that never before have your savings contributed so vitally to Canada's welfare as they have this past year.

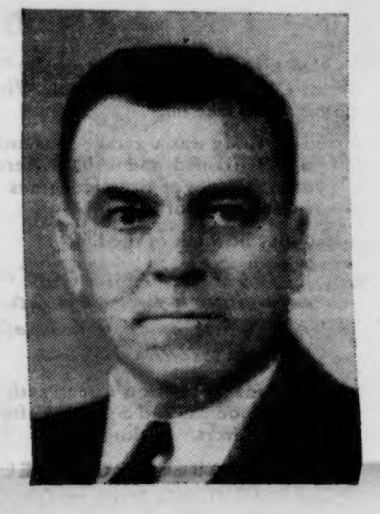
This year—as always—the B of M, through its 600 branches, kept your money hard at work with Canadian enterprise of every description and size. The following are some of the important highlights:

DEPOSITS: At the end of the Bank's year, October 31st, 1953, two million Canadians had $2,226,960,333 in deposits with the B of M. Although much of this money belongs to institutions and business firms, well over half of these deposits represent the savings of everyday Canadians — savings that, day by day, are working for you . . . and for Canada.

LOANS: Your bank is playing an important role in our expanding economy by means of loans to Canadians of every calling — farmers, miners, fishermen, oil men, lumbermen, ranchers — to industrial and business enterprises and to Provincial and Municipal Governments. As of October 31st, B of M loans totaled $857,762,561 — the highest figure in the history of the Bank. In a thousand ways, these dollars played their part in maintaining full employment and in sustaining — or bettering — our standard of living.

INVESTMENTS: At the close of the year the B of M had $864,057,948 invested in high-grade government bonds and other public securities which have a ready market. This money is helping to finance government projects for the betterment of the country and the welfare of Canadians at large. Other securities held by the Bank — mainly short-term credits to industry — bring total investments to $982,490,826.

"MY BANK" TO 2 MILLION CANADIANS B of M



The B of M has been working with Canadians in every walk of life for 136 years. Each year proves afresh to my bank the great importance of every savings account. Every dollar you deposit works long and steadily not only for your own future, but also for the future of the country as a whole.

THINK IT OVER

When some one stops advertising,

When someone stops making,
Someone stops earning.
When someone stops earning,
Someone stops buying.

Banning, a new employee, had been caught coming in late for work three times already and this fourth morning, the foreman decided to read the riot act.

"Look here, Banning," he snapped "don't you know what time we start work around here?"

"No, sir," said Banning. "They're always working when I get here."

LeRay Anderson and young son David of Salt Lake City, Utah arrived in town on Wednesday for a few days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Anderson. Mr. Anderson is a teacher at the University of Utah and came to spend U.S. Thanksgiving with his parents and sister Jean.

Education does not mean teaching people what they do not know. It means teaching them to behave as they do behave. It is not teaching the youth the shapes of the letters and the tricks of numbers and then leaveing them to turn their arithmetic to roguery, and their litature to lust. It means, on the contrary, training them into the perfect exercise and kingly continence of their bodies and souls. It is a painful, continual and difficult work to be done by kindness, by watching, by warning, by precept, and by praise, but above all—by example.

It isn't necessary to blow out the other person's light, in order to let your own light shine.

Canadian Soldiers Enjoy Dutch Hospitality

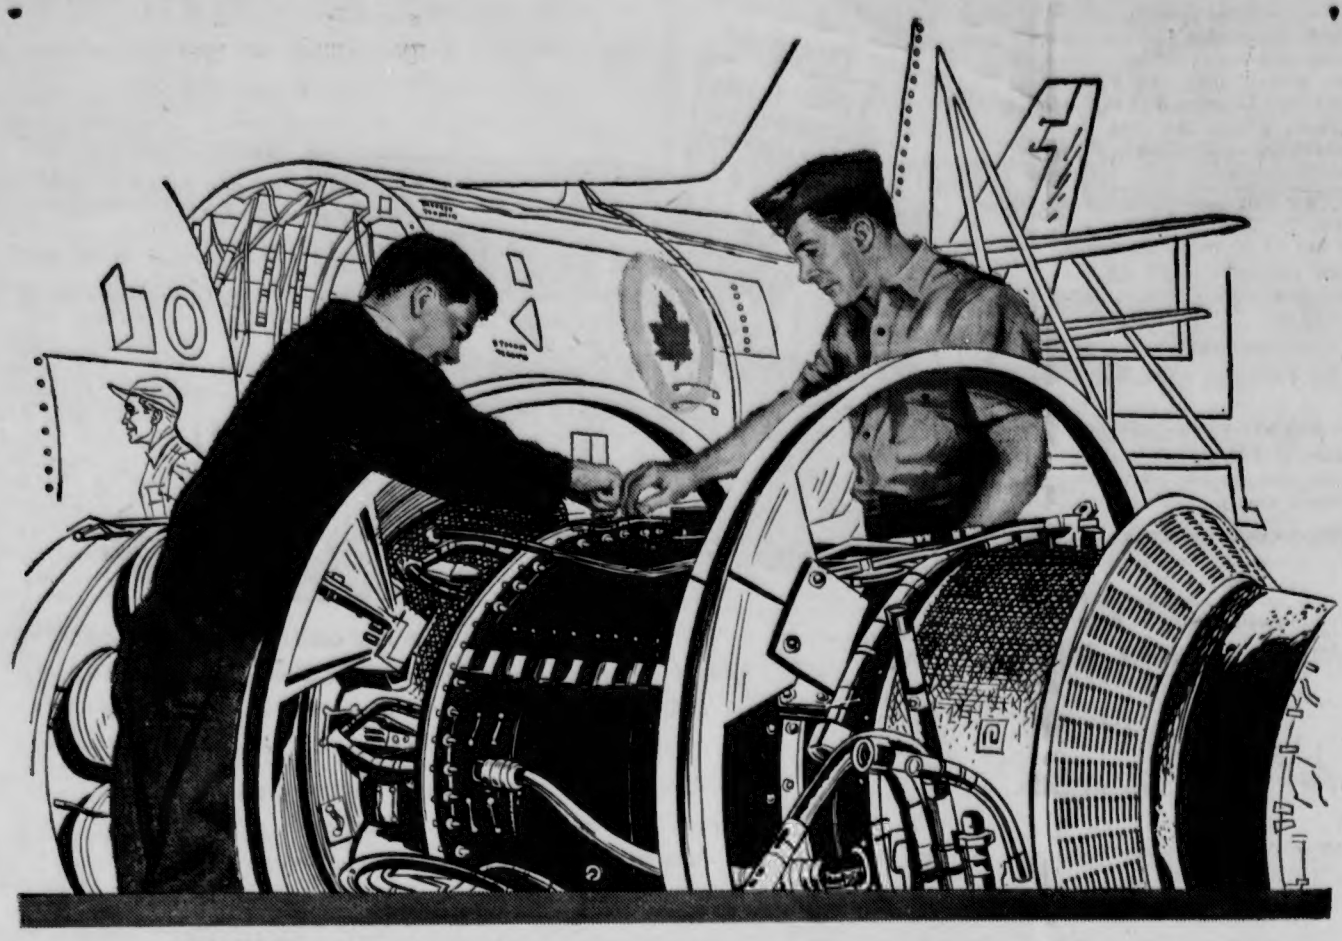
"Ma" Van Geel is accustomed to the joshing of these Canadian soldiers, for she served other Canucks back in 1944 in her cafe at Antwerp, Holland. Here the motherly proprietress chats with Pte. Vernon Nickerson of Overton, N.S. and Sergt. Bill Martin of London, Ont., over a cup of tea. Canucks stationed nearby have found the cafe a "home away from home."



"I wanted a career in aviation"

YOU CAN HAVE ONE, TOO!

Skilled Aircraft Technicians are the "line backers" in the expanding Royal Canadian Air Force team. Without their "OK" a plane isn't permitted to take off.

LAC Eric Craig was a garage mechanic a couple of years ago. Today he's a fully-trained and skilled Aero-Engine Technician. He's an expert on all types of aircraft engines — from single-engine planes to four-engine transports.

What does he think of the life?

"I've got an important and interesting job now," he says. "It's a job with a future. Nowhere but in the Air Force could I have obtained so valuable an aviation training."

If YOU want an aviation career with opportunity for advancement, adventure, good pay and a pension after 20 years, enrol today to train as a skilled Aircraft Technician.

The most lovable and livable quality that any human being can possess is tolerance. Tolerance is the vision that enables us to see things from another person's point of view. It is the generosity that concedes to others the right to their own opinions and their own peculiarities. It is the bigness that enables us to want those we love to be happy in their own way instead of ours.

LET'S MOVE OVER

Sunday as usual and I sat in my pew at church. Perhaps my mind should have been on the service, but two rows ahead a man sat on the aisle seat and several were compelled to stumble over him to get into the pew.

In the pew just ahead were two ladies and they were graciously moved over that others might be seated and with it a quiet, pleasant "Good Morning."

Perhaps the beginning of christian courtesy means giving way to others, and a friendly smile.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS IS Everybody's Business

YOUR GOVERNMENT LENDS
"A HELPING HAND"

QUESTION: What assistance do needy citizens receive from the Government of Alberta?
ANSWER: Through the Department of Public Welfare, your government spent $7,500,000 in 1952-53 to help those in need.
Co-operating with the Government of Canada, and with municipalities, your government provides the following assistance:

OLD AGE SECURITY AND ASSISTANCE. Old age pension of $40 per month paid persons over 70 years by the Government of Canada. Supplementary allowance of $10 per month, plus hospital and medical services, provided by provincial government, also up to $40 per month paid persons aged 65 to 69. *The aged and infirm may be cared for in one of 53 licensed homes.

BLIND PERSONS' ALLOWANCES. In addition to paying 25% of Government of Canada pensions, the provincial government pays up to $10 per month supplementary allowance and supplies hospital and medical services.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS. Up to $40 per month, plus hospital and medical services, paid widows aged 60 to 64.

MOTHERS' ALLOWANCES. From $50 to $145 per month plus hospital and medical services. (These are the highest rates of mothers' allowances paid in Canada.)

CHILD WELFARE. Wards of the government are placed with prospective foster parents who have been carefully investigated.

Further information regarding provincial government assistance may be obtained by writing the Department of Welfare, Administration Building, Edmonton.

"Turpentine," offered the other help fully.

Two weeks later they met again. "What did you say you gave your mule when he had the heaves?" again asked the first.

"Turpentine," answered the helpfull one.

"Well I gave it to mine and it killed him," said the first.

"Killed mine too," answered his pal.

When faith is lost, when honor dies the man is dead.

Man is the only animal that blushes Or needs to.

When you think your heart is broken
And your very soul is crushed,
When life's darkness closes 'round you
And the voice of God seems hushed.
Lift your eyes toward the heavens,
Toward the vastness that is there,
Tell your troubles to your Maker,
He will understand and care.
Others, too have drowned their sorrow
Struggled onward to success,
There's a hope with each tomorrow,
Just trust God. He'll do the rest.

Perhaps you live in a one-room apartment. The spirit of Christmas tugs at your heartstrings. You'd love to invite in two or three friends for dinner.

Don't hesitate—go right to the telephone and do it. Here's a fabulous menu which can easily be prepared in the smallest of kitchenettes in just an hour and a half.

5-Course Christmas Dinner

Grapefruit Filled with Frozen Strawberries
Escalloped Oysters
Cranberry Sauce
Roast Squab Chicken
Sauteed Mushrooms
Browned Canned Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Frozen Peas
Tossed Tomato and Lettuce Salad
Plum Pudding (canned) with Ice Cream
Coffee

Preparation Schedule: Set the table. Stuff chicken and start to roast. Prepare and chill grapefruit and salad, ready to toss. Put can of plum pudding to heat in boiling water. Prepare and bake oysters. Brown canned sweet potatoes; cook peas and heat in cream. Toss salad. Start coffee. Serve dinner.

All Measurements Are Level
Recipes Serve Four

Escalloped Oysters

You will need 1 pt. oysters, 1 tbsp. minced parsley, 2 tbsp. minced celery, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. paprika, 2 c. soft enriched breadcrumbs, tbsp. butter, 1 c. cream or rich milk and ¼ c. dry crumbs mixed with 1 tbsp. melted butter.

Rub 4 small individual baking dishes with butter or margarine; line with a thin layer of the soft crumbs. Put in a single layer of the oysters; then sprinkle with half the minced parsley, celery, salt and paprika; dot with half the butter. Spoon in half the soft breadcrumbs. Then repeat. Pour in the cream or milk. Cover with the buttered dry crumbs; bake 25-30 min. in a moderate oven, 375° F. Garnish with pimiento strips and parsley.

Roast Squab Chicken

Order 4 squab chickens (each weighing from 1 to 1¼ lbs.) cleaned and dressed for roasting. Remove any pin feathers. Wash, dry and stuff with packaged bread stuffing prepared according to directions. Fasten the vents with toothpicks. Rub the chickens all over with ¼ c. margarine and ½ c. enriched flour blended with ¼ tsp. pepper and 1½ tsp. salt.

Place, not touching each other, in a well-buttered casserole or heavy pan. Cover closely. Roast 1¼ hrs. starting at 375° F. 20 min. reduce the heat to 350° F. Turn twice to insure even browning. Serve one bird to a person with sauteed mushrooms.

Suggestion of the Chef

Serve roast squab chicken on thin slices broiled ham. Tres elegante!

Mr. and Mrs Alma Hancock were business visitors to Calgary this week.

City of the Dead:— East Berlin, compared with the West is like a city of the dead, The Financial Post's editor R. A. McEachern, reported from Germany the other day. "There is little bustle in the streets. The people look drab, and spiritless, in very marked contrast to the people of West Berlin. When you cross the West-East border, you don't need to be told that here is a different world.

Unleash a camera at one of the food parcel centres and most of the people within range look the other way, or cover their faces with forearms or coats. They don't want to be identified for accepting Western aid. That's not healthy in the Eastern zone.

Don't hunt for trouble,
But look for success
You'll find what you look for,
Don't look for distress.
If you see but your shadow,
Remember I pray
That the sun is still shining,
BUT you're in the way.
Don't grumble, don't bluster,
Don't dream and don't shrink,
Don't think of your worries,
But think of your work.
The worries will vanish,
The work will be done,
NO MAN SEES HIS SHADOW
